

Rapid Needs Assessment Workshop (G-557)

Bremerton, WA – May 13, 2014

WORKSHOP DESCRIPTION (Formerly G-250.7)

The ability to perform a rapid needs assessment accurately and within the first few hours after an incident is critical to providing response for life threatening and imminent hazards. Coordinated and timely assessments permit local government to prioritize response activities, allocate scarce resources and request mutual aid and State & Federal assistance.

Workshop activities, facilitated exercises and instructor lead group discussion are utilized in this course to provide participants with the skills to perform assessment.

In addition, the workshop deals with planning for a Rapid Needs Assessment to include:

- Planning for data collection
- Importance of analyzing and reviewing data
- Training and exercising rapid needs assessment plans and actions

TARGET AUDIENCE

Any community working to improve its disaster intelligence collection procedures.
